EXCERPT FROM JOURNAL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Tuesday - 30 January 1973

5. (Confidential - GLC) Left with J. Sourwine, Chief Counsel, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, material prepared by CI staff on several of the individuals who had decisive roles in the contested basketball game between the US and USSR teams at the Munich Olympics. I made it clear to Sourwine that there should be no attribution to the Agency in the use of this material. He expressed considerable interest in this information and said there were several possible uses of it including the publication of testimony on the subject, referral of the material to appropriate news contacts, or preparation of a speech for a member of the Senate. He asked for assurance that this material has not been made available to anyone else and also asked for any backup material we could give him. ☐ , of CI staff, is pulling the material together.

Sourwine said they had not received widespread reaction to the report on "Soviet Intelligence and Security Services 1964-70--Selected Bibliographies of Soviet Publications with Some Additional Titles from other Sources" but a number of people had expressed very deep interest in it and felt it was a very valuable reference document. He said he was very glad that the Subcommittee had published it.

Wednesday - 31 January 1973

1. (Confidential - GLC) J. Sourwine called about the material I had provided him on the US-USSR basketball game and asked about the use of qualifying words such as allegedly, probably, etc., with respect to the intelligence connections of certain people mentioned in our paper. Sourwine said he would like to know whether these statements were made on a hard intelligence evaluation. I told him I would check with ☐ and let him know.
